Conflict Minerals Statement

We have contacted our raw material suppliers with regards to Declarations of Conflict minerals, specifically in the Democratic republic of Congo. Based on the information available from our suppliers we can confirm that no conflict metals/minerals (Gold, Tin, Tantalum or Tungsten) are knowingly used or intentionally added in their manufacturing process.

As a downstream user of materials we are not in direct control of the manufacturing process and therefore rely on information provided by manufacturers. Analysis of the aforementioned substances do not form part of our quality control system and therefore is only updated when information is supplied by our manufacturers.

It is however, worth mentioning that there can be trace elements of these products found in the atmosphere giving potential for low level contamination. Therefore, we cannot exclude impurities, which are not the responsibility of Magnum Materials Ltd.
